CHAVTER V
CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

This reseached finally brought a finding that the score of the students increased in every test administered to the students. The students' score mean of the orientation test was 57.48, the mean of the post test cycle I was 69.75 and the mean of the test cycle II was 81.28. the students' score increased continuously from the first meeting until the last meeting in cycle II.

B. Suggestion

In relation to the conclusion, there are some suggestions offered as follows:

1) The English teacher is better to apply Reciprocal Teaching Strategy in teaching reading especially narrative text because by applying Reciprocal Teaching Strategy, the teacher is able to make the students comprehend better in reading narrative text by predicting, questioning, clarifying, and summarizing the text both in group and individually.
2) Other university students is suggusted to use Reciprocal Teaching Strategy in conducting further reseach as it is effective in improving students' reading comprehension.
3) The students is suggested to apply the Reciprocal Teaching Strategy in learning English especially in reading narrative text so the students can comprehend the text better and improve their score.