

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis has been written as a partial fulfillment of the requirements of the degree of Magister Humaniora (M.Hum) from the English Applied Linguistic Department of the Post-graduate Program of Universitas Negeri Medan.

In the process of writing this thesis, the writer is indebted to many people for their guidance, help, suggestions, and comments. Therefore, she would like to express her gratitude to all of them for their generous guidance and assistance. She can, however, mention only a few of them.

The writer particularly owes a great indebtedness to both her consultants, Prof. D.P. Tampubolon, PhD and Dr. Lince Sihombing, for their valuable advice, suggestions, and comments.

She would like to extend her sincere thankfulness to Prof. Dr. J. Naihaho, the head of the department, and Dra. Meisuri, M.A, the secretary of the department, for their helps in all administration matters and deep mental support, and all the lecturers who have taught a lot of knowledge to her. May God protect them in all activities they do.

Furthermore, the writer's sincerest thanks go to her beloved father, mother, sisters, and brothers for their never-ending support and understanding given to her during her academic years at the department. The writer hopes that her two brothers will try to be better than her in the future.

Last but not least, her final thanks go to all her kind friends who have contributed very much to her improvement in English. Few that the writer can mention here; Ibu Siti Zulfah, Kak Eka, Yanti, Yuda, Indra, Tri, Haryanto, Ibu Ida, Ibu Tiur, Kak Raja, etc. To all of them the writer can only hope that they will look upon the results of their influence and endeavors with pleasure.

May God bless us!

Medan, February 2004

The Writer

Inong Sabriani
015010030

