

ABSTRACT

Persatuan Tarigan, The Management guaranteed of lecture Quality to increase quality of gradulators in Karo University (2008). The afterscholar Program of Medan University. February 2008.

The research background is to get the graduation quality who to competitive in the world of buiness according effort to the vision and mission of Karo University, so that the management guaranteed of lecture quality would be needed. The management guaranteed of lecture quality felt to push, so that it needs the increase of study qualification and lecture competence. By that the target of this research on the management aspect based on the assumption that the function of university management is to design, to do and evaluate the factors especially to develop the lecture quality because the university development ha a strong relationship between lecture development.

The purpose of this research is to descript the process of the management guaranteed of lecture quality t increase the gradution, that has a relation with the recruitment, the lecture presporious. And also to descripts the lecturer duty that has relation with the tridharma university duty wichh is education and teaching, research and dedication to the society.

The data collection did by technic of good observation, interview and documentation study. The test of real data did by triangulation technic that use the infformation sources, methods and all teoryres that exist.

From the reasearchwe have a condusion that the guaranteed management of lecture quality in Karo University still formality push the intervension directly the university management to do the tridharma of university is the characteristic of management lecture quality development in Karo University. The high quantity of lecture, any way not balanced with the increase of the academic lecture qualification