TABLE OF CONTENTS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ABSTRACT</td>
<td>i</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS</td>
<td>iii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TABLE OF CONTENTS</td>
<td>v</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF APPENDICES</td>
<td>x</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF TABLES</td>
<td>xi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>LIST OF FIGURES</td>
<td>xii</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CHAPTER I INTRODUCTION

1.1 The Background of the Study ............................................. 1
1.2 The Problems of the Study .............................................. 4
1.3 The Objectives of the Study ............................................ 5
1.4 The Scope of the Study .................................................. 5
1.5 The Significance of the Study ......................................... 6

CHAPTER II REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

2.1 Theoretical Framework .................................................... 7
2.1.1 Conversation Competence .............................................. 7
2.1.1.1 Conversation ......................................................... 7
   1. Turn Taking ............................................................ 7
   2. Adjacency Pairs ....................................................... 8
   3. Opening Conversations ............................................... 9
   4. Closing Conversations ............................................... 10
2.1.1.2 Competence .......................................................... 10
2.1.1.3 Characteristics of Conversation Competence .................... 12
2.1.2 The Communicative Language Teaching techniques .......................... 13
  2.1.2.1 Approach, Method and Technique ........................................... 13
  2.1.2.2 Defining the Communicative Language Teaching ...................... 14
      1. The Goals of CLT in conversation competence ......................... 14
      2. How learners develop their conversation competence ................. 15
      3. The Roles of Teachers and Learners in the CLT Classroom ........... 18
      4. Implications for Methodology ................................................. 18
      5. Characteristics of Communicative Language Teaching Techniques. 19
         a. Characteristics of Information Gap Technique ....................... 20
         b. Characteristics of Information Transfer Technique ................ 22
  2.1.3 Attitudes toward learning English ........................................... 25
  2.2 Conceptual Framework .............................................................. 29
  2.3 Hypotheses .................................................................................. 34

CHAPTER III  RESEARCH METHOD
  3.1 Method of Research .................................................................... 36
  3.2 Population and Samples .............................................................. 37
  3.3 Instrument for Collecting the Data ............................................. 37
      3.3.1 Written Oral Performance (Teacher-Designed Test) Material .... 37
      3.3.2 The Questionnaire ............................................................... 39
  3.4 The Procedure of Collecting the Data ......................................... 40
      3.4.1 Pre-test ............................................................................... 40
      3.4.2 Treatment / Teaching Procedures ......................................... 41
      3.4.3 Post-test ............................................................................. 42
  3.5 Instrument of Validation ............................................................. 42
3.5.1 Validity .................................................................................................................. 42
  3.5.1.1 The Validity of the Test .................................................................................. 42
  3.5.1.2 The Validity of the Questionnaire ................................................................. 43
3.5.2 Reliability ................................................................................................................ 43
  3.5.2.1 The Reliability of the Test ............................................................................. 43
  3.5.2.1 The Reliability of the Questionnaire .............................................................. 44
3.6 Technique of Analysing the Data ............................................................................ 45

CHAPTER IV  RESEARCH FINDINGS

4.1 Description of the Research Data .......................................................................... 48
  4.1.1 Students' Conversation Competence Taught with Information Gap Technique.......................................................... 49
  4.1.2 Students' Conversation Competence Taught with Information Transfer Technique ........................................................................... 50
  4.1.3 Students' Conversation Competence with Positive Attitudes ....................... 51
  4.1.4 Students' Conversation Competence with Negative Attitudes ....................... 52
  4.1.5 Students' Conversation Competence with Positive Attitudes Taught with Information Gap Technique ................................................................. 54
  4.1.6 Students' Conversation Competence with Negative Attitudes Taught with Information Gap Technique ................................................................. 55
  4.1.7 Students' Conversation Competence with Positive Attitudes Taught with Information Transfer Technique ........................................................................... 56
  4.1.8 Students' Conversation Competence with Negative Attitudes Taught with Information Transfer Technique ................................................................. 58
  4.1.9 The Interaction between Teaching Techniques and Learning Attitudes........ 59
4.2 Requirements of Data Analysis

4.2.1 Normality Test

4.2.2 Homogeneity Testing

4.2.2.1 Group of Teaching Strategies

4.2.2.2 Groups of Students Attitudes towards Learning English

4.2.2.3 Groups of Interaction

4.3 Hypotheses Testing

4.3.1 Students’ Conversation Competence Taught with Information Gap Technique is Improved than those Taught with Information-Transfer Technique

4.3.2 Students’ Conversation Competence with Positive Attitudes is Improved than those with Negative Attitudes

4.3.3 There is Significant Interaction between Teaching Techniques and Learning Attitudes on Students’ Conversation Competence

4.4 Findings

4.5 Discussions

4.5.1 Students’ Conversation Competence Taught with Information Gap Technique is Improved than those Taught with Information Transfer Technique

4.5.2 Students’ Conversation Competence of Students with Positive Attitude is Improved than those Students with Negative Attitude

4.5.3 The Interaction between Teaching Techniques and Learning Attitudes on Students’ Conversation Competence

4.5.4 Students’ Conversation Competence of Students with Positive Attitude is Improved with Information Gap Technique
Students’ Conversation Competence of Students with Negative Attitude is Improved with Information Transfer Technique

CHAPTER V  CONCLUSIONS, IMPLICATIONS, AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1 Conclusions........................................................................................................... 72

5.2 Implications.......................................................................................................... 73

5.3 Suggestions .......................................................................................................... 75

REFERENCES ........................................................................................................... 76