

CHAPTER V CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

A. Conclusions

The reason why the writer chooses this topic to be analyzed is because there are many people who get some misinterpreting while they are doing conversation, and this talk show called Ellen Degeneres Talk show has become one of the popular Talk Show Program for long time. That's makes me interest to.

Illocutionary acts used by using sign language in "Ellen Degeneres Talk Show" from the first and second episode can be classified into four types those types are: assertive, directive, commissive, expressive, declarative. There was not declarative found. It was because there were not utterances that have a function that can change the world or the status of people through speaker's utterance.

The dominant type is assertive because the speaker gave more information about the theme of the show and also information about her guess star, she also gave reports and suggestions to her guest. The dominant type occurs in the context a talk show called Ellen Degeneres Talk Show where Ellen is the host (speaker) that mostly giving information, report about what was the theme of the show and also about guest's personal life and career.

The writer gets much knowledge after conducting the research on illocutionary acts used by the main character in "Silence movie", For example, she can understand deeply about illocutionary acts based on Searle's theory and found all of kinds of illocutionary acts namely: assertive, directives, commissives, expressive and declarative. Besides, she also able to understand the function of illocutionary acts itself and how people express their illocutionary through sign language. The writer hopes this research would give some advantages for further researcher who studies the same field.
