B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion before, the suggestions were made by researcher as below:

1. School Parties

In order to provide the relevant English reading materials, the product of this study can be selected before using in the school especially for students of Broadcasting class. In teaching, teacher should consider the students’ needs in choosing the learning materials. The learning process can be successful if the teacher can give the materials related to the students’ program and also the teacher can apply “English for Specific Purposes” approach. Students can find the materials related to their study program from the internet and books.

2. Others Researchers and Textbook Writers

Any book writers can use this study as a reference to make a better English text book especially for Broadcasting class. This study can be used as a references contribution for those who want to conduct or to do the R&D, developing materials, etc.
