Dear Dr. Mohammad Barakat

We got some troubles when we came to retry to access to your website when we were kicked out of, the last things we did when we got in and try to delete the incomplete signed of our article, which meant to change with another revision but failed to do that with unable to come back to same page, and now what to do that to inform you this problems and try to transmit you the copy of revision directly through your email, which I know not supposed to, but there is no another way, and I look forward to waiting for some comments to any further actions and kindly get the copy by downloading through attachment.

Thank you,
Sincerely Yours,
