CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1 Conclusions

With reference to the research finding conclusions are drawn as the following:

1. There are six types of interpersonal metaphors used in Indonesia Now, namely (1) epithet, (2) euphemism, (3) connotation, (4) vocative, (5) metaphor of mood, and (6) metaphor of modal.

2. The use of interpersonal metaphor in 'Indonesia Now' is realized by the use of incongruent types of expressing meaning.

3. The use of interpersonal metaphors in Indonesia Now refers to the context of situation, and context of culture.

5.2 Suggestions

In relation to the conclusions above, suggestions are staged as the following.

1. It is suggested that the students of English Department should have a good knowledge in interpersonal metaphor by which they can easily investigate the position and the function of interpersonal metaphor in text through systemic functional linguistic. Then the students can apply this system in comprehending the texts and expressing meaning in their writing.

2. It is suggested that other researcher do further research about interpersonal metaphor in different discourse in order to know the different significant from the discourse and it can be more intensively described.

3. This study will be relevant used by the learners to improve their ability to understand and produce discourse which are effective in conveying informations in order to make the learners become mastery in analyzing interpersonal metaphor in any discourse.