Abstract

Background: The implementation of the Independent Learning-Independent Campus policy changes the paradigm of a rigid content-based curriculum approach to a curriculum based on adaptive and flexible learning outcomes to prepare students to become independent adults. In the implementation of the Independent Learning-Independent Campus policy, collaboration and cooperation with partners or other parties related to the scientific field of study programs and participation in supporting the desired learning outcomes are needed.

Method: The purpose of the research is to develop Universitas Negeri Medan's participation in the Merdeka Learning-Independence Campus program and to find out what obstacles need to be addressed
