CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

This chapter deals with conclusions and suggestions of the research findings and discussion presented in the previous chapter.

A. Conclusions

The conclusions are draws as the following after analyzing the data. The existing media used by the teacher was not effective enough to stimulate and encourage the students to write. They find it is difficult to write and make a narrative text. They want to have an interesting and effective media which motivate them to learn and write the kind of narrative text. The solution for the students is developing the new interesting writing media. This new writing media is based on students' needs and make students more interest in learning as well as ease the students to write through Storyboard That. Storyboard That follows the R & D phases by Borg, Gall and Gall (2003) which is simplified into, (1) Gathering Data and Information, (2) Need Analysis, (3) Designing Media, (4) Validating by the experts, (5) Revising, (6) Final Product. The score of validation from the validators was 92%, and it was categorized as relevant. It means that the media are valid an appropriate to use as learning media for students.

B. Suggestions

In relation to the conclusions above, suggestions are stated for the consideration for the future.

a. For the teacher, teacher should consider students' need in choosing the learning media. The learning process can be successful if the teacher mastered in explaining narrative text as well as using a learning media that can support the teaching learning process. The English teacher can develop the learning quality by applying this Storyboard That in their language classroom. Then, the teacher should pay attention to kind of text that was given to the students. For this reason, a narrative text about legend is really suitable for the teacher to be used in the class, because it fit to Syllabus of Curriculum 2013 for grade ten of senior high school.

b. For the students, they also can practice their narrative writing by using this media in order to help them in learning English. The result of the study can be considered as a recommendation for the researchers to make further research related to the study.
