

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This thesis was written with the help of many great and extraordinary people, who had contributed their inspiring thought, idea, and huge support through long discussions, wonderful understanding, compassions, love and prayers. First and foremost, the greatest gratitude goes to the writer's Lord, Savior and forever companion Jesus Christ for His love and grace.

A great gratitude goes to her advisers Dr. Syahron Lubis., MA and Dr. Zainuddin, M. Hum for their incredible guidance, advice, knowledge, time and moreover support and wisdom during the writing of this thesis.

An appreciation is also acknowledged to the Head and Secretary of English Applied Linguistics Study Program of UNIMED, Prof. Dr. Busmin Gurning, M. Pd, and Dr. Sri Minda Murni, MS for the encouragement and valuable advices. Gratitude also goes to the administrative staff of LTBI UNIMED, Farid Ma'ruf, for the administrative assistance in accomplishing this thesis.

Special thanks are dedicated to all examiners for the critics, advice, feedback and constructive comments for the betterment of this thesis. For all lecturers of LTBI UNIMED, who had guided and illuminated the writer during her study at the Postgraduate School with their remarkable knowledge and passion in teaching, a thank you is not good enough. Dear professors, sirs, and madams, thank you for those inspiring and memorable classes we had.

From the classroom LTBI B1 where they used to pour ideas and insights, to the real world where they apply what they have learnt, these following people have been the writer's inspiration and role models in the past few years. Thank you Kak Yenny, Sri and Laura for being such a good friend to share all the life stories beyond what we had studied in linguistics. Thank you all the class mates that I found so supportive in encouraging one another, especially to Mila, Mustafa, bang Dedi, Panda, kiky, who inspiring the writer to finish this.

Special gratitude goes to writer best friends Lastri, Dwi Sidabutar, Ika, Jokek, Tioria, for the advices and encourages to finish this thesis. For my travelling and teaching partner in POS Felisia, Dameita, Riama, Vio, Ide, kak Donna, Mr. Maryanto, Vely, Nanda, Fendy during the challenging and of course tiring days of study and the moments of waiting, thank you for becoming some sweet distractions by sharing your fresh thoughts, stories and laughter. May God always lights your path, your future endeavor as you will stay healthy and happy.

A sincere gratitude also goes to all family, daddy, abang Arnol, bou and cousins for the thoughtful prayer and the everlasting love. For the remembrance of my late mommy in heaven who inspired me to be a better lady each and every day. Family is one of the most essential motivations to finish this thesis and also for their unconditional love to the writer. Their presence and prayers are the most significant features to her life. To David, a special one who popped up in the very last minutes of this thesis writing, thank you for those meaningful sleepless nights conversation and the offered future to come along, xx.

Last but not least, Pramoedya Ananta Toer, her Indonesian most favorite novelist, and Max Lane, the translator of Bumi Manusia, may God bless your life, as always, and for writing those brilliant inspiring novel, a joyful appreciation is humbly extended to you.
