

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Praise gratitude to God Almighty because for His mercy and grace I can complete my thesis research entitled 'Analysis of the Cognitive Process of Male and Female Students in Writing Narrative Texts by the Eleventh Grade Students'. This study aims to determine the differences in cognitive processes that occur in male and female students when writing short stories.

In carrying out this research, researcher was faced with the challenge of difficulty collecting data from students because the school often conducted activities outside of the classroom which resulted in delays of data collection. However, this problem was solved by communicating with the English teacher there.
