

BAB V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the formulation of research problem in this study “How is the Development of Digital Flashcard Media In Teaching English Vocabulary to 4th Grade Students at SDN 112280?” the researcher draw the conclusion that the digital flashcard media is developed based on the need analysis by implementing several procedures : (1) Gathering data and information. Information and data were gathered through conducting teachers’ interview and distributing the questionnaire to 18 students of fourth grade. (2) Conducting need analysis. After gathering the whole answer of teacher’s interview and also students’ need, the researcher analyzed the data and information. The outcome was both teacher and students need a learning media that can motivate and ease them in studying English vocabulary. (3) Designing the product. The researcher had designed the digital flashcard by using Canva application. The content of flashcards were adjusted to the learning topic. (4) Validating to Expert. At this stage, the media was evaluated by two experts, they are he English teacher the lecturer of English Department. The average of score from both experts is 88.5 % (very good). (5) Revising the product. Besides give the score toward the product, the validators also give the suggestion to the researcher to develop the media to be better. (6) Final Product. This is the last sage where the media was already appropriate and worthy to be used for teaching English vocabulary to fourth grade students of SDN 112280 Aek Kanopan.

B. SUGGESTION

After conducting this study, there are some suggestions that researcher needs to give for some parties:

a) For the English teacher

After developing digital flashcard as a teaching media in this research, the researcher suggests that the teacher can use this digital flashcard media to teach fourth grade students about English noun vocabulary. Despite of it, the researcher also suggest that the teacher can apply other interesting teaching media that can improve student's ability in mastering English daily vocabulary and suit to the students' need in learning English vocabulary such as wordwall, word square, big book, crossword puzzle, etc.

b) For the future researcher

The research suggests to the future researcher to develop another appropriate teaching or learning media, apart from flashcard, which can improve student's vocabulary based on the English material that students are studying. The teaching media can be in the form audio-visual such cartoon film, animation video or visual such as flipbooks, vocabulary board and so on.