

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

After analyzing and interpreting the data from the previous chapter, this chapter offered the research's conclusion and suggestions for further research. The conclusion was based on the description of the research problem; meanwhile, the suggestion aimed at providing information to the future researcher who wants to do similar research.

A. Conclusion

Based on the findings, the Deddy Corbuzier Podcast Youtube Channel predominantly employs a relaxed manner, both in terms of the host and the guest. The podcast was presented in an informal setting and covered a variety of topics. The guest was granted the freedom to express themselves using their own linguistic style, be it professional or informal. In summary, it can be observed that individuals possess distinct linguistic styles, which are not solely contingent upon their occupational or hierarchical backgrounds. This is due to the fact that when two or more individuals feel comfortable engaging in conversation or establishing connections, they tend to exhibit more proximity and ease in exchanging ideas. However, in other instances, certain individuals sought to impress others through the manner in which they employed their linguistic style. Individuals employ varying linguistic styles based on the interlocutor or the specific setting and circumstances. In recent times, certain individuals have adopted a linguistic style that is akin to that of others, as it embodies their distinctive characteristics.

B. Suggestion

From the writer above it may be considered for the future study on language style, especially on intimate language style study. The first suggestion was to consider a daily life conversation in object of intimate style study. It will create an exception one of intimate style other study. Because, mostly some study used movie or novel as a object to analyzed intimate style.

The second suggestion was able to compared the intimate language style theory by Martin Joos with the other experts. It will be an interesting, because there were some language style experts who had different opinions and compared to other expert's definition, it can showed and compared the differences and similarities between them.

Thus, by this suggestion it is truly expect that this study can be a good reference for linguistics learner and inspired them to conduct further analysis.