CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A.Conclusion

After analyzing the data concerning the main characters in the movie "Avatar: The Way of Water," several conclusions were drawn:

1. The researcher categorizes the four main characters (Jake Sully, Neytiri, Lo'ak, and Colonel Mile Quarritc). Jake Sully is the first character to depict a static and dynamic character, as well as the confident and the protagonist character. Neytiri is the second main character, the protagonist, who represents a static character. Lo'ak is the third character, depicting a round character, the protagonist. Colonel Miles Quaritch, the fourth character, portrays a static character, the antagonist.

2. According to Costa and McCrae's theory of personality traits, the researcher classified the personality traits of the four main characters (Jake Sully, Neytiri, Lo'ak, Colonel Mile Quarritc). Jake Sully was classified as Neuroticism, which includes characteristics such as emotional stability, calm, and self-control. Neytiri is classified as Agreeableness because agreeable due to her benevolence; she is kind, loves and cares, and is sympathetic. She is also classified as Neuroticism due to her bravery and calm traits. Lo'ak is classified as open to Experience and Neuroticism because he can't control his anger, and he is sensitive. He is also Agreeableness because he wants to help others; he is kind and has sympathy. Quaritch is classified as Extraversion, Conscientiousness, and Openness to Experience.

3. The characteristics of Jake Sully, Neytiri, Lo'ak, and Quaritch were demonstrated through appearance, dialogue, internal and external action, and the reactions of other characters. Researchers discovered they were optimistic, active, assertive, curious, sympathetic, brave, sensitive, angry, friendly, disciplined, hardworking, calm, emotionally controlled, and kind.

4. The main character embodied Costa and McCrae's Big Five theory of personality traits, demonstrating an ability to empathize with others, a natural understanding of human nature, and adeptness in adjusting to various environments.

B.Suggestions

At the end of the thesis, a number of suggestions were also provided by the researcher as follows:

1. For the next researchers, the researcher proposed that they conducted research on the same topic of personality traits and learned more about character and personality traits of characters in movie in order to conduct more particular research on personality traits.

2. For the readers, The researcher proposed that individuals used the research message to learn more about personality traits. Because it could be useful information to learn about character's personality to know more about human life.
