- Her beloved father Gordon Aritonang, and her first love when she came into this world. A father who never stops working hard to meet all the needs of his family. A father who is always willing to take her to Medan to continue her studies and pick her up afterwards. A father who is always proud of every small effort the writer's makes, and who never stops praying and motivating her. Hopefully every step that her father takes wherever and whenever he is, always be under God's blessing and protection, may he be granted a long life so that he can grow old with mom, accompanied by the writer in our hometown.
- Her beloved mother Marianna Limbong, who lovingly brought the writer into this world, be the writer's best friend and has raised her with endless devotion. An independent and strong mother who is always willing to fulfill her needs, always gives support and motivation, and prays without stopping every day for her to be able to complete the writer's education immediately. A mother who has become a role model as teacher and as a person who lives simply, humbly, and full of love. Hopefully, God bless and protect mom wherever and whenever she is. Hopefully, when the author continues mom's dedication to become an English teacher, it will make her happy, live a long life and always be healthy.

- Bohal R. M. T. Aritonang, Benaya A. A. Aritonang, Marojahan B. Aritonang, Gabriel G. M.T. Aritonang, as the writer's siblings and also best friends. The writer's greatest gift that her parents give and greatest blessings that God has given. Brothers and sisters who teach each other, pray for each other, support, motivate, and strengthen one another. Hopefully, the completion of this education degree will be a source of happiness for her brother and sister, as well as a motivation for the writer's two younger brothers to continue their education to a higher level.
- To Epenri Tamba, who has become a best friend and partner through all ups and downs, and who has helped with the writer in many ways. Although not related by blood, he has become one of the most important person in the writer's life throughout this journey. From the completion of KKN to the completion of this thesis, he has generously shared his time, energy, thoughts, and support. In moments of uncertainty and difficulty, he has always been there to listen, offer comfort, and remind the writer to keep moving forward. His kindness, patience, and genuine concern have brought strength and reassurance during some of the most challenging times. For all the help and memorable moments shared along the way, the writer will always be sincerely grateful. Hopefully he will always be under God blessings and will also complete his thesis soon and can continue to a higher level.

- Her beloved and lovingly best friend, Vioni M. Br. Siregar who has been a good friend of the author from the first semester to the present, through all ups and downs. She always been by the writer's side as a friend to share meals with, a playmate, a group partner in class, a person to share a story without anything to hide, and many other things that cannot be mentioned. The person who taught the writer that in this world there is someone who is not a blood relative, yet sincerely loves the writer like a sister. She has given endless love, care and support to the writer. Hopefully she will always be under God's blessing and will also complete her thesis soon.
- Her beloved and funny best friend, Syelomitha A. E. Hasugian who has been the writer's high school friend and later suddenly became a roommate from first semester to fifth semester. Even so, she still often spends time at the writer's boarding house because the unbreakable bond they share like sisters. Hopefully, they always be under God's blessing, and can soon complete their thesis.
- Tasya A. whom the writer met during KKN and who has become a Steve figure for the writer. She has been a good listener, someone who always surprises the writer with thoughtful homemade meals, and a mature person who makes the writer feel the presence of an older sister while living far from home. Hopefully, she always be under God's blessing, and can soon complete her thesis.
- To all friends in PLP II, for the togetherness, support, cooperation and memorable experiences that the writer's felt throughout PLP II, wh the writer first truly felt a strong sense of the kinship and cooperation in this team
- To all classmates, especially for Gita Handayani, Ahmad F. Harahap, and Elfrida Simanullang who have sincerely helped one another and continuously given prayers, support, and encouragement throughout the college years and during the completion of this thesis. Hopefully, they always be under God's blessing, and can soon complete their thesis.

- Finally, the writer would like to express her greatest appreciation to herself, Devi Natalia Aritonang, for her hard work, dedication, and perseverance in completing this thesis even in the midst of excessive anxiety, fatigue, and various difficult processes that are not easy to go through. The writer is grateful for having remained strong, resilient, and determined until the completion of this study. This achievement reflects her commitment, persistence, and willingness to continue moving forward despite the difficulties encountered along the way.

The writer realized that this thesis was still far from perfect and might have contained some limitations. Nevertheless, constructive feedback and suggestions were highly appreciated for the improvement of this thesis. The writer hoped that this thesis could provide benefits, valuable knowledge, and useful contributions to the readers, especially for those who were interested in the field of education and English language teaching.
