

LIST OF TABLES

	Page
Table 2.1 Martin's Model of Language (1992)	9
Table 2.2 Participants in Experiential Function	11
Table 2.3 Circumstances in Experiential Function	14
Table 4.1 Occurrences of Experiential Types on Descriptive Microeconomics and Financial Accounting Texts	43
Table 4.2 The ways of Using Experiential Function Types in Relational Process Initiated Narrative Paragraphs	48
Table 4.3 Comparison of the Use of Experiential Functions in Behavioral Process Initiated Paragraphs	51
Table 4.4 Experiential Function Used in the First Clause of Narrative Paragraph as Narration Initiation	53
Table 4.5 The Uses of Experiential Function Types in Descriptive Paragraphs of The Financial Accounting Theory and Microeconomics Texts	60
Table 4.6 Experiential Function Used in the First Clause of Descriptive Paragraphs of The Financial Accounting Theory and Microeconomics Texts	61
Table 4.7 Experiential Functions Used in the First Clause of Narrative and Descriptive Paragraphs of the Financial Accounting Theory and Microeconomics Texts	62