

ABSTRACT

Girsang, Kidu Meliani. 2014. Speech Function in Lucy's Adventures in Narnia's Script Movie. A Thesis. Faculty of Languages and Arts. State University of Medan.

The study deals with the types of speech function in Lucy's adventure in Narnia's script movie. The objectives of study are to describe the kinds of speech function used by Lucy in narnia's script movie, to describe the dominant type of speech function and to describe the reason for the use of the most dominant speech function. This research is conducted by using descriptive qualitative design and limited on one of the main character. Linguistically, speech function are realized in Narnia's Script Movie which is used by Lucy in her adventures. There are four types of speech function used by Lucy in her adventures , namely: statement, question, offer and command. The data analysis result shows there are 112 clauses as statement with 64%, 27 clauses as question with 15,43%, 9 clauses as offer with 5,14% and 27 clauses as command with 15,43%. From the result, the most dominant one is statement. And for the reason of using speech function dominantly can be seen from the context. the context divided into 3 namely field, tenor and mode.

