

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

5.1 CONCLUSION

This chapter of intensive research on students' motivation, teacher's attitude and reading skills of English as foreign language shows the significant relationship between the two variables. This is concluded as follows

- 1) The relationship between students' motivation and reading skills of English as a foreign language shows 0.930 . It means that the  $r$  table is smaller than the  $r$  count. This value shows the significant relationship. The students' motivation is necessary to be created.
- 2) The relationship between teacher's attitude and reading skills of English as a foreign language shows 0.913. This value is also necessary to be considered, that the  $r$  table is also smaller than the  $r$  count. It means that the teacher's attitude should be kept continuously.
- 3) Both the figure on point 1 and point 2 show the significant relationship.
- 4) It is through adequate students' motivation that they gain the intrinsic desire to read.
- 5) It is also through adequate teacher's attitude the students gain the extrinsic desire to read.

- 6) Both the student's motivation and teacher's attitude are necessary to be created in order to gain the maximal purposes of English curriculum, especially on reading skills of English as a foreign language

5.2 SUGGESTION

Several suggestions are offered for further research ,in order to obtain the maximal findings later on.

Several suggestions are :

- 1) The findings of this study can be used for developing the students' motivation , teacher's attitude, and reading skills of English as a foreign language.
- 2) The students' motivation in SMP N 7 Padangsidimpuan Hutaimbaru is necessarily to be developed.
- 3) The teacher's attitude in SMP N 7 Padangsidimpuan Hutaimbaru is also necessary to be paid attention by the head master.
- 4) The performance of the English teachers are expected to be able to convince their own students
- 5) Reading skill is one of the factors should be created in the classroom intraction.
- 6) Realizing that reading skill is one of the factors in English subject is necessary in teaching it to arise the students' motivation, and teacher's attitude.
- 7) It is also necessary, that the English teachers should create a good performance in order to convince their students in learning reading skills as a foreign language.