

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

5.1 Conclusion

The way how picture series trigger memory retrieval was that by suiting the number of clues presented to the background knowledge of the writers. The more the background knowledge of the writers had, the less clues they needed to trigger the memory retrieval. On the other hand, the less the background knowledge of the writers had, the more clues they needed to trigger the memory retrieval.

5.2 Suggestion

Picture series trigger memory retrieval depends on the knowledge background of the writer. Then, if we do not have enough knowledge background, we will less in triggering memory retrieval. So, give your brain a workout, such as doing something new you have always wanted to try, like learning how to play guitar, make pottery, etc. Because the more you work out your brain, the better you will be able to process and remember information.
