

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTIONS

A, Conclusion

After analyzing the linguistic features in male and female translation in Ulosi Rohangki poem. The conclusion of the findings are :

1. Through the findings that has been conducted, it can be concluded that the similarities and differences translations are found in the linguistic features that have been done by the male and female translators.
2. The Similarities and differences in translations can be realized in translation results by male and female translators. The similarities are from the use noun and verb, then the differences are from the use of verb and adjective in translation`
3. The similarities and differences can be realized because male and female translators female translators tend translate the poem with feelings while male translators tend translate the poem with logic.

THE
Character Building
UNIVERSITY

B. Suggestions

After finishing this research, the researcher admits that there are some weaknesses of this study since there are limitations. Therefore, several suggestions are recommended by the researcher to readers towards translation of Batak Toba poem into Bahasa Indonesia, as presented below:

1. For readers, this is expected to enrich their knowledge about linguistic features and translation
2. For Batakese teenagers, it is expected for them to obtain more knowledge, especially about BatakTobanese language as their own culture that needed to be maintained at least through this study.
3. For other researchers, the othe rresearchers are advised to study and make more detailed analysis about translation of other Batak Toba poems.

