

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND DISSCUSION

A. Conclusion

After analyzing the data, conclusions are drawn as the following:

1. There are several types of deixis which were found in the Detik.com online news article. Namely, person deixis, temporal deixis, and spatial deixis. In the first type of deixis there is a personal deixis with 71% of usage, temporal deixis with 22% of usage, and spatial deixis with 7% of usage.
2. The deixis in Detik.com online news article were realized with the utterance of the speaker or writer in order to point out the intention of their statement such as the direction of the discussion or the person involved in the discussion in the article along with the place and time the discussion take place. The realization of the deixis in the article can be seen in the following:
 - a) Person Deixis : kami, katanya, pihaknya, kita, Warga kita, dia, tegasnya, warga luar, paparnya, imbuhnya
 - b) Spatial Deixis : awal tahun, saat itu, akhir tahun ini, waktu itu, saat itu, beberapa pekan
 - c) Temporal Deixis : tersebut, kasus ini
3. The deixis in this detik.com article often occurs as a reflection of the position and social status of the speaker or the writer in the speech or writing

B. Suggestion

From the result of the research, the researcher suggests some points for who want to analyze the deixis in detik.com article:

1. The researcher must have thorough understanding of pragmatics theory and be able to relate it to code-mixing theories which cannot all match the studied text research.
2. The researcher should find the correct online phenomena as an object investigation. Deixis was related with online text that increase to make a good article. The structures of deixis in detik.com online newspaper which describe how deixis when using another word to represented others word.
3. It suggested to next researcher who interested in online article to conduct the research about pragmatics in scope Deixis theory.