6. All lecturers and staff of the Chemistry Department at Universitas Negeri Medan for imparting knowledge throughout my studies.
7. The author also does not forget to thank for the Principal and Chemistry Teachers at SMAN 2 Percut Sei Medan, for their assistance in accepting and giving the author the freedom to conduct research at the school and chemistry teacher as validation of e-module too.
8. Elyrangin Sianturi and Mahdalena Purba, my beloved parents who always give endless support and love to the writer. Although my dear father no longer sees my struggle to this point, I am sure he is always with me and prays for me from heaven. I dedicate this title to my beloved mother who still faithfully accompanies me and always prays for me until now and forever. There is nothing more beautiful than seeing my mother happy and proud of me.
9. Indah Sianturi, my eldest sister, who in every busy moment I often trouble, yet she always provides assistance in the form of material support, encouragement, and prayers, and becomes the place where I share my stories. Ida Sianturi, my second sister, who always cares about and pays attention to my college journey, consistently offering prayers, support, and appreciation for every step I take. Dicky Sianturi, my only brother, who even in his silence continues to offer sincere support and prayers. Rilis Sianturi, my quietest younger sibling, yet I - know that in every prayer my name is always included. Ryando Sianturi, the youngest in our family, thank you for your support.

10. My second family, the Munthe Family, who since my high school years and the beginning of my college journey have continuously supported and prayed for me, encouraging me to complete my studies well and become a better person. Suryani Purba, my elder mother, who will always remain in my heart, whose advice and love constantly strengthen my journey; my elder father; Kak Lisda, who has always been my best listener, the one who receives all my complaints and gives the best advice; Kak Vina, who consistently shows sincere care and love; Kak Juli/husband; Bg Asido/wife; and my beloved siblings Valent, Jorgey, Immanuel, and Hezekiel. Thank you for your love. I dedicate this degree to all of you.
 11. Naomi Putri Sianipar, my best friend since high school until now, who has accompanied my journey from the very beginning until this point. Thank you for the love, prayers, and unwavering support, even though distance now separates us.
 12. Tira Kania Pardosi, my first friend in college and my best friend until we completed this stage of education. Thank you for accompanying this long journey and making it meaningful through smiles, tears, and happiness. Feny Christin Silaen, my most caring and attentive friend, thank you for your love and constant concern.
 13. Edwin Pakpahan my friend since the beginning of this thesis journey. Thank you for struggling together and being part of this process. May our past exhaustion turn into gratitude for God's presence.
 14. My favorite cousin Yanti Sianturi, who always accompanied the writer through all seasons during college. A friend since I was little, Putri Manurung, and also my roommate Sarah Sinaga, who always supported the writer.
 15. Viona Tobing, my younger sister, who from the beginning of this thesis always accompanied me. Always caring and always praying for the writer to be granted smoothness from the start until today.
 16. CESP 2022, my classmates who have accompanied me in every learning process, supporting and praying for me from the beginning until this point and forever.
 17. Gerakan Unimed Mengabdi (GUM), thank you for the dedication and togetherness since 2023- 2026. The green house made the author have a high sense of care and meet many friends and companions who have the same goals.
 18. Ikatan Keluarga Besar Kristen Kimia (IKBKK), thank you for the encouragement, prayers, and moral support during my college journey until the completion of this thesis. The author found a family here.
