

FOREWORD

All praise and gratitude are devoted to God Almighty, the Most Merciful and the Most Compassionate, for His infinite grace, guidance, and blessings that have enabled the author to complete this thesis entitled “Development of an Innovative Redox Reaction E-Module Based on Project-Based Learning (PjBL) Integrated with Ethnopedagogy.” This thesis is submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for obtaining the Bachelor of Education (S.Pd.) degree in the Chemistry Education Study Program, Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences (FMIPA), Universitas Negeri Medan.

The author fully acknowledges that the successful completion of this thesis would not have been possible without the support, guidance, and encouragement of many individuals and institutions, both directly and indirectly. Therefore, the author would like to express sincere appreciation and deepest gratitude to all those who have contributed to the completion of this research. Therefore, on this occasion, the author would like to express his gratitude to:

1. Mr. Prof. Dr. Ramlan Silaban, M.S, as the thesis supervisor, who has provided guidance, advice, motivation, and valuable time given to the author in completing this thesis, from the initial process of determining the research title until the completion of this thesis.
2. A very special gratitude is expressed to the author's beloved parents, Bapak Edward Pakpahan and Ibu Mincekalara Siburian, who have lovingly cared for and raised the author, and who have continuously provided prayers, attention, love, motivation, as well as moral and material support, enabling the author to complete this thesis and his studies.
3. Mrs. Prof. Dr. Ir. Nurfajriani, M.Si, Mrs. Dewi Syafriani, S.Pd., M.Pd, and Mrs. Nora Susanti, S.Si. M.Sc., Apt. as thesis examiners, for the valuable comments, insightful feedback, and constructive suggestions that greatly contributed to the improvement and completion of this thesis.
4. Mrs. Prof. Dr. Retno Dwi Suyanti, M.Si, Mrs. Dr. Ratna Sari Dewi, M.Si, Mrs. Marnida Yusufiani, M.Pd, Mrs. Alfira Julian Pratiwi, M.Pd, as the validators who have provided valuable evaluations, suggestions, and constructive feedback for the improvement of the developed e-module.

5. Mrs. Suryani S.Pd, M.Si, Niar Rehulina Perangin-angin, M.Pd, Denni Sihotang S.Pd, as the chemistry teacher who have assisted the author during the research and data processing for the writing of this thesis as well as students of SMAN 2 Percut Sei Tuan.
6. Prof. Dr. Tita Juwitaningsih, M.Si as the academic advisor who has provided excellent academic guidance to the author during the course of study.
7. All lecturers in the Chemistry department who have provided teaching and guidance during the author's studies at the faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences, Universitas Negeri Medan.
8. The author's classmates, CESP 22, thank you for the friendship, support, and countless memorable moments throughout this long academic journey. The time and experiences shared will always be remembered fondly.
9. To IKBKK, thank you for being a meaningful community that has continually played a positive role in the author's life, helping strengthen the author's faith and nurture a deeper appreciation for God's blessings every day.
10. To GUM, thank you for instilling in the author the values of humility, empathy, and social responsibility, as well as inspiring the author to actively contribute and serve the community through meaningful acts of service.
11. The author's beloved brothers, Michael Febrianto Pakpahan, Herfaldo Gideon Pakpahan, and Wilson Valentino Pakpahan, thank you for the continuous support, encouragement, and motivation throughout the author's journey in completing this thesis.
12. The author's fellow thesis supervision partners, Citra Sianturi and Feny Christin Silaen, thank you for the support, cooperation, and assistance throughout the process of completing this thesis.
13. To myself, thank you for persevering until the completion of this thesis. The author realizes that this journey has involved various challenges beyond expectations, along with many ups and downs. Nevertheless, these experiences have become valuable lessons and a reminder not to give up. The journey ahead is still long, therefore keep moving forward, continue striving, and always aim to make the family proud.

14. To all other parties whom the author cannot mention one by one, who have provided assistance either directly or indirectly, the author would like to express sincere gratitude.

Medan, April 02nd 2026

Edwin Pakpahan

THE
Character Building
UNIVERSITY