

ABSTRACT

Improving students interes in following the information services through LCD projector student of grade VIII⁵ SMP Negeri 6 Kisaran
(Thesis Advisor : Dr. M Rajab Lubis, MS)
Educational Faculty Of State University Of Medan
2014

Information service is a way of giving information the done by counselor to the students in form of both material or analysis whih support the development of self-esteem. In informatio service, there is an interaction between the students an the teacher/the counselor but, it waild not run well if it is not, supported by the students interest in following the service. As in the observation result held by the researcher who found that the interest of the students of grade VIII, especialy in class VIII⁵ SMP Negeri 6 Kisaran in following the information service is considered as low, approximatly 59% of the studends are uninterested. If happens because the student feel cored with the material which is presented. Based on this result, the researcher provides an idea to make the students to be more interested in following the information services well, by giving the information using LCD projector as the media. This research is using the design of PTBK (Penelitian Tindakan Bimbingan Konseling) through two cycles. Each cycles has components; 1) planning, 2) Action, 3) observation, 4) reflection, and 5) evaluation, where each change can be seen in the evaluation. Based on the accounting, it can be seen that the students interest in following the information service changes from the beginning to the 1st cycle is about 22,58%, in 2nd cycle, the improvment is about 61,29%. So that if can be concluded that there is an improvment in students interest in following the information service through LCD projector in class VIII⁵ SMP Negeri 6 Kisaran. If means that the using of LCD projector can be influence to improve the students interest in following the information service.

Keywords: LCD Projector Media, Interest, Information Service

THE
Character Building
UNIVERSITY